EUROPEAN DAY OF AWAKENINGS OCTOBER 7TH 2015

www.studokoro.it

The “National Day of Awakenings on Coma Researches - It's worth it” promoted by the association Gli amici di Luca onlus has reached the goal of his 17th edition this year, thus becoming the first European Day of Awakenings “under the high patronage of the European Parliament”. The objective of this day is shared by two European projects, headed by the Italian training and educational authority Futura, in cooperation with the association Gli amici di Luca onlus, both finalized to the creation of a European cooperation network on coma and severe acquired brain injuries: L.U.C.A. - Links United for Coma Awakenings (partners: Belgium, Bulgaria, Greece and Spain) co-funded by the Lifelong Learning programme of the European Union and centred on the learning and spread of good practices; L.U.C.A.S. - Links United for Coma Awakenings through Sport (partners: Belgium, Cyprus, Denmark, Lithuania, Portugal, Spain and CSI - Italian Sports Centre for Italy) co-funded by Erasmus + program of the European Union (Sport Collaborative Partnership) to produce and share rehabilitation models through sport. The European Day of Awakenings takes place thanks to many national and international institutional patronages, starting from the experience of the “Casa dei Risvegli Luca De Nigris” (Luca De Nigris House of Awakenings), celebrating its 10th anniversary last year (2004/2014). The “Casa dei Risvegli Luca De Nigris” (Luca De Nigris House of Awakenings) is a Health Authority innovative public centre for researches and rehabilitation on coma patients located in Bologna.

The structure, built in Bologna in the area of the Ospedale Bellaria, strengthens a new philosophy of the cure emphasizing the central role of the family, wishing for the expansion of similar structures in a network of suitable services for patients with coma, vegetative state and minimally conscious state. In order to reintroduce the subject of the person with a severe disability in need of interventions and assistance, to allow them a highly independent life and a social life re-integration, we must start up from Europe again, to allow an open and constant debate on the subject, according to different points of view (medical, cultural, social...), broadening the number of Institutions and European countries involved. The aim of the Casa dei Risvegli Luca De Nigris is to make both the public opinion and Institutions aware of the theme of rehabilitation of patients recovering from coma, with particular attention to family members and volunteers assisting these patients on their new life project, in order to share with them their even more active and conscious role in the rehabilitation path of their dear ones. Gli amici di Luca association is part of the “Tavolo sugli Stati Vegetativi e di Minima Coscienza” (“The Committee on Vegetative States and Minimal Conscious States”) of the Italian Ministry of Health and the “Osservatorio nazionale sul volontariato e nell'Osservatorio Nazionale sulla Condizione delle Persone con Disabilità” (“The Italian National Observatory on Voluntary Work and the National Observatory on the Condition of People with Disabilities”) and it is engaged in the application of the action plan to ratify the United Nations Convention on rights of people affected by disability and equal opportunities of people in need. The European Day of Awakenings is an important date to be continued in time in order to realize the Protocol on Cooperation signed by partners on the project and many organizations and associations joining in. The event provides for many initiatives planned in partner countries of the different projects taking place through joined actions promoting good practices through social themes, together with the clinical ones of researches and therapeutic alliance between health professionals, non-health operators, family members and volunteers. The launched debate on the subject of coma has arisen relevant interest at European level; therefore the idea of a European Day of Awakenings acquires a high value, for the Associations for family members protection and the Health and Research world.

The conference takes shape from the "Links United for Coma Awakenings through Sport" - project - LUCAS, presented by Futura in cooperation with Gli Amici di Luca Association: The project was selected among 406 projects presented at European level and co-financed by the European Union Erasmus + Program (Sport Collaborative Partnership).

This current project, whose Italian partner is the CSI-Centro Sportivo Italiano - CSI Italian Sports Centre, involves other six European Countries (Belgium, Cyprus, Denmark, Spain, Lithuania, Portugal). Its aim is to create a stable European network to share information, experiences and good practices in terms of rehabilitation models through sports, to reintroduce patients with cerebral traumas and spinal cord injuries (especially as a coma outcome) and their families/caregiver.

Sport gives opportunities to take part in to patients at the risk of exclusion from the community after a severe life project break (awakenings from "interrupted lives") and to build up solidarity networks and volunteer work around these patients (community awakening).

TRAINING SEMINAR COMA COMMUNICATION

The Association and the Foundation of Journalists in Emilia-Romagna inside the “European Day of Awakenings”

ECM Credits awarded: 6

The training seminar for journalists (open to both family members and operators) is about a particular segment of the health communication related to coma outcomes and to patients deprived of self-determination, consequently falling back on family members in particular. The idea to introduce a declaration of intents including regulations on the editing and spreading of news on coma and the illness in general was introduced during the conference “Coma communication: information rights, privacy and information” in October 2005. Ten years later the seminar and the signers of that “Document of the intents” want to ponder upon the spread among communication professionals and on possible updates of those suggestions for an even more correct and respectful communication (www.comunicareilcoma.it).

FEEDING THE BRAIN

Presentation of the book by Silvana Hrelia
Edizioni Pendragon

The book "Feeding the brain", is not only a collection of series of articles published on "Gli amici di Luca Magazine" over the last years, but also a concise, although uncomplete compendium on scientific literature about the high subject of "brain feeding".

Modern science on nutrition is more and more focusing on the study of those minor components of food whose function is to protect our health and to prevent the main chronic degenerative diseases affecting high rate developing countries in particular.

Therefore, "Feeding the brain" keeps this line since the brain is not only "in need of sugar", as a popular slogan keeps saying, but also in need of a large selection of small molecules able to protect the brain whether taken in conveniently – in case of severe injuries such as brain-damages or neurodegenerative diseases, too – and to keep brain's best functioning.

The relation between food and brain is a particular and delicate one.

The brain regulates our daily food consumption directly, but the food we ingest, or better, its quality truly influences our cognitive functions.

REPORT ON VEGETATIVE STATES IN ITALY THE RESULTS OF THE VESTA STUDY

This conference shows the final results of this study - a CCM research project of the Ministry of Health, requested from 24 Medical Associations - the first systematic analysis of the diagnostic aspects of Vegetative States and Minimally Conscious States as extreme disability conditions in Italy.

In these clinical situations it is compulsory to ensure the highest level of diagnostic accuracy in a field where many uncertain elements persist.

The aim is to evaluate how much the misdiagnosis influences the Italian clinical context and to analyse the possible change in irreversible chronic phases. The conclusions of this study reveal that misdiagnosis of a vegetative state in a chronic phase is around 25-30% of the cases and the Minimally Conscious State is around 40% of cases.

THE POWER OF SPORT

Monday 12th October, Aalborg University Esbjerg will host an European Day of Awakenings event where the use of sport in rehabilitation is presented. As well as demonstrations, examples and talks by luminaries, latest technologies as used in various sports are considered as an aid is quantifying progress in rehabilitation training that otherwise is difficult or impossible to accurately measure for validity and reliability. This will be the first time such technologies are presented in this way and it is anticipated that attending therapists will contribute within discussions on the potentials as they see as experts in the field. In the program the LUCAS and LUCA European projects will be presented. Topics include best-practices in Denmark/Scandinavia and the rest of Europe on sport being used in rehabilitation; plus - legal aspects; description of the national/regional care system for rehabilitation through sport; relevant actors and family involvement in ABI through sport; specialised knowledge or training resources, courses financial support, infrastructure and more. This event will collaboratively be presented under the European Day of Awakenings (7th October 2015) and it is expected that Skype input from European luminaries in the field will participate in exemplifying and summarising what happened on the actual day across Europe towards starting to build for the 2016 event. A full program, times and location will follow.
